Dear New 4-H Family:

Welcome to 4-H, the youth development program of the Cooperative Extension Service. With over 6 million participants nationwide, 4-H provides youth with positive learning experiences that help build character, while developing knowledge and skills that prepare them for the future.

4-H programs are offered in every county, in every state, in the nation. Locally, thousands of children, ages 5-18, participate in the 4-H program through club involvement, special interest programs, and school enrichment programs. As a new 4-H family, you are certainly part of something very special.

As you become more and more involved with 4-H, you will continue to have new opportunities – even beyond Henderson County – because 4-H events occur at the county, district, state, national, and even international levels! But all the fun starts at the club level. We encourage your family to become very active with your 4-H club.

Your club leaders and parent volunteers will guide your 4-H club with the support of Cooperative Extension staff members. The Extension staff members who manage the local 4-H program are:

Denise Sherrill, 4-H Extension Agent
Sue Janowiak, 4-H Program Assistant

Your 4-H staff members work for the North Carolina Cooperative Extension at the Henderson County Center, and serve as field faculty for North Carolina State University, our Land Grant University. Cooperative Extension is supported by county, state and federal funding. The local Extension office is located in Jackson Park in Hendersonville. Office hours are M-F, 8:30-5:00. The phone number is 697-4891.

Your club leaders and extension staff are here to support your family as you explore the exciting world of 4-H. Feel free to contact us if you have any questions. Please know that we welcome your new ideas and contributions.

Sincerely,

Denise Sherrill
Extension Agent, 4-H

PARENT & GUARDIAN ROLES

First and foremost, 4-H is a family program – a place where adults and their children can learn and grow together. In 4-H, you as the parent or guardian are very important, and you are always invited and encouraged to participate in all 4-H club activities.

We recognize every family's schedule is different and you may not be able to attend every club function, but there are many different ways that you can contribute to your child's 4-H group.

Your 4-H club leader will give you a Parent Interest Card along with an enrollment card for your child. Your responses on this card help the leader know about your interests and talents, and tell the leader how you would like to support your child's 4-H group. Because 4-H has so many diverse experiences, we have discovered that every adult finds some role to play that supports the group.

As a parent or guardian, these are the following roles you need to fulfill:

- Provide transportation for your child to and from 4-H events.
- Attend 4-H club functions with your child whenever possible. Children 5-8 should always have a parent or guardian attend meetings with them.
- Guide your child as they select a 4-H program to explore, and help them develop goals that are challenging, but also realistic. Encourage their project work by making it a family learning experience. The project record section on page 6 will give you more details about project work.
- Read each issue of The Source, the 4-H newsletter, so you will know about upcoming special events. If you are not already receiving the newsletter by mail or email, please call 697-4891 to be added to the mailing list. It is also available online at <http://henderson.ces.ncsu.edu/4-H>.
- For the most up to date information, go to the website, scroll down and click on "4-H Upcoming Events."
- Attend Parents & Leaders (PALS) meetings during the year to learn more about 4-H opportunities for your child and provide input on 4-H programs. These meetings are held 2-4 times per year during the evening hours.
- The 4-H staff will provide countywide training on project records, presentations, and other core 4-H learning experiences. By understanding more about these 4-H programs, you can help your child excel and take advantage of all that 4-H has to offer.
- Attend the end-of-year club celebration with your child, and attend 4-H Achievement Night (the countywide awards program held in February) as a family. Recognition always means more to children when their families are there to share it with them.
- Complete new enrollment forms and notarized medical releases each year.

4-H FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What are the four “H’s” ? The “H’s” stand for: head, heart, hands, and health. Club members recite the 4-H pledge at meetings.

What is the 4-H Pledge? I pledge, my head to clearer thinking, my heart to great loyalty, my hands to larger service, and my health to better living for my club, my community, my country, and my world.

What is the 4-H motto? “To Make the Best Better”

What are the 4-H colors? The 4-H colors are green and white.

How did 4-H begin? 4-H began in the early 1900’s as Corn Clubs for boys and Tomato Canning Clubs for girls. Although the program has changed a lot through the years, it has always been a program designed to help children become productive members of their communities. The National program celebrated its 100th birthday in 2002, and the North Carolina centennial was in 2009.

Do I have to live on a farm to join 4-H? No, although 4-H began as a program for rural children, today 4-H is available for all children whether they live on a farm or in the city.

Do boys and girls attend different clubs? No, all 4-H clubs are open to both boys and girls.

How old do you have to be to join a 4-H club? Children can join a 4-H club as soon as they turn 5 years old, and they can stay involved until they are 19 years old on January 1.

What are the age divisions for competitive events? A child must be 9 years old as of January 1 of the current program year to compete in any 4-H event. Many 4-H events allow younger youth, ages 5-8, to participate and receive participation ribbons and prizes. Most competition is held in the following age divisions: (Juniors) 9-13 and (Seniors) 14-18. However, the age categories do vary from program to program. Always carefully review the registration information for 4-H events.

What does it cost to join a 4-H club? There is no membership fee to join a 4-H club. Each family will determine which project their child selects, and the cost for that project varies. For example, the costs would be very different if a child selects a livestock project versus a woodworking or computer project. However, 4-H club members must complete new enrollment forms and notarized medical releases each year.

Do parents and guardians attend meetings with their children? Yes! 4-H is a family program. Parents/guardians are encouraged to attend club meetings and 4-H events with their child. It is a great way for families to learn and grow together. A parent, guardian or adult helper (such as a Big Brother/Big Sister) must be present at each club meeting for youth who are 5-8 years old.

How do I stay informed about 4-H opportunities? Read The Source, your free 4-H newsletter. It will give you all the details about upcoming programs.

Does 4-H have a web site? Yes, we have a web site. The url is: <http://henderson.ces.ncsu.edu/4-H>. This is a great site to learn about 4-H, and it has links to state and national web sites.

CLUB OFFICERS

Clubs with members 5-8 years old usually do not have elected officers. They often rotate club helpers who assist the club leader. This is a more age-appropriate leadership experience for our younger members. Clubs with members who are 9 or older will elect officers to help lead the club. Most clubs will elect the following officers:

President: presides at the club meeting using parliamentary procedure, works to ensure that all members get a chance to share their ideas and participate in the business meeting.

Vice President: greets, introduces and thanks guests and speakers at club meetings; and presides at the club meeting using parliamentary procedure in the president's absence.

Secretary: keeps accurate minutes of the business meeting, keeps accurate attendance records, and writes letters and thank you notes on behalf of the club.

Treasurer: keeps accurate financial records for the club, and turns in records to his or her club leader at the end of the officer's term.

Reporter: writes a monthly article about the club's activities for The Source, the 4-H newsletter, and helps promote 4-H club activities. In some clubs, the reporter may also serve as a club photographer, develop scrapbook pages of the club's activities to be placed in the county 4-H scrapbook, and develop a short slideshow about the club for Achievement Night.

4-H County Council Representatives: represent their club at monthly 4-H County Council meetings. Each club will elect or appoint two youth to serve as the club's representatives to 4-H County Council. The County Council makes decisions about county activities. 4-H County Council representatives serve as a link between their club and 4-H County Council. They give monthly reports to their club about activities planned at 4-H County Council meetings, and they give monthly reports to 4-H County Council about their club's activities. Clubs with youth ages 5-8 usually do not have 4-H County Council representatives; however, they may send a non-voting adult representative.

Before your child runs for a club office, discuss the responsibilities of the office and make sure he or she is prepared to fulfill those duties. Keep in mind:

- All club and county officers need to attend Officers Training to learn how to fulfill their officer role. They will receive an officer's notebook that they should take to every club and 4-H Council meeting.
- Officers are installed at the end of Officers Training. Parents are welcome to attend this ceremony.
- Clubs will re-elect officer positions when youth fail to fulfill the requirements of their office. Each club will set their own guidelines about the age requirements to hold a club office; however, given the planning nature of 4-H Council, it is recommended that 4-H Council representatives are at least 11 years old.

4-H PROJECTS

Project work is an important part of 4-H. A 4-H project is simply a topic that the member chooses to explore during the year. Some youth may take an entire year to work on a project record. Others may complete a project record within a few months.

Project work is self-paced and individual. The project the child chooses should reflect his or her interests. Keep in mind that the topic a child chooses isn't the most important part of project work. It is the process of completing a project record that helps youth develop skills in:

- setting and completing goals
- keeping records
- creative writing
- organization
- leadership
- citizenship
- community service
- development of skills and knowledge in project area

Project work is a process with several parts including: project selection, setting goals, accomplishing goals and keeping records of accomplishments, then summarizing the accomplishments into the final, written project record. There are different project record forms for each of the following age groups: 5-8, 9-10, 11-12, 13-15, 16-18 (age determined as of January 1 of the current year). County staff has copies of these forms, or you can find them online.

*For the 4-H Awards Handbook and project record forms for ages 9-18 visit the 4-H awards and Incentives web page: www.nc4h.org/youth/awards.html

*For the Cloverbud project record form (ages 5-8) visit the Henderson County 4-H website: henderson.ces.ncsu.edu/4-H then look under "Featured Links," and "Upcoming Events."

PROJECT SELECTION

The process begins when children select one or more project based upon their interests and age level. Children should receive guidance from their parents or guardians when they select projects.

Henderson County 4-H has many curricula books available, or youth can choose their own topic

It is recommended that new members select only one project record; as a general guideline members should not select more than three projects each year.

Project books generally cost $4-5 each. Please ask 4-H staff to show you the wide variety of 4-H curricula. Checks should be written to Henderson County 4-H. The "4-H Mall" is an online catalog of 4-H items, including curricula (<http://www.4-hmall.org>). The county has most of this curricula. If not, we can usually purchase it for you at a reduced rate.

PLEASE NOTE: New 4-H clubs will often have all the members work on the same project as a group to introduce families to project records. Although new families are welcome to select additional projects, we recommend that they work on the group project during their first year, and then select individual projects in future years.

SETTING GOALS

When children receive their project manual, they should sit down with their parent/guardian and/or club leader to establish goals for what they want to learn and do in 4-H for the year. The project manual will have suggested activities and age-appropriate learning experiences for the member. These are suggestions to help guide the child's project involvement – not requirements.

The member's goals should include all the 4-H activities and contests in which they want to participate during the year. Request a copy of the current Henderson County 4-H Calendar of Events and a copy of your club's calendar from your 4-H club leader to know what opportunities are available. In addition, members should set specific goals for what they want to learn and what they want to do for EACH project they select. Their goals should be as specific as possible. For example, many children may think to write a general goal like, "I want to learn about sewing." A better goal would be more specific such as, "I want to learn how to thread a sewing machine," "I want to learn the names of 10 sewing tools," or "I want to visit a textile manufacturing company to see how fabrics are made." When children make specific goals, they can easily see their accomplishments as they complete their goals!

For younger youth, it is common to see three – five goals for each project. Older children often have more goals and, as they gain more experience in their project area, more challenging goals.

Children will record their goals on the project record form, My 4-H Project Plan. If a child submits two or more projects, they can photocopy the goals page and include it in all of the project records. Children should try to develop their goals page and include it in all of the project records. Children should try to develop their goals early in the year (or soon after they join a 4-H club) to serve as a guide for their 4-H involvement. Saving forms on a computer will help in creating project records.

KEEPING RECORDS

During the year, members work to complete their goals. Goals may need to be modified during the year – some added, some deleted. This is perfectly acceptable.

Children record their accomplishments on the project record form, My 4-H Project Plan. If a child is working on two or more projects, he or she will record his or her accomplishments for EACH project on a different form.

SUPPORTING INFORMATION

As youth work on completing their goals, they will need to think about how they will show what they have learned. For each project record, the member prepares up to six pages of supporting information related directly to their project.

Some suggested items include: photographs related to the project, drawings that show what they made or learned about the project, lists of books read about the project along with brief summaries of the books, miniature samples that show skills that were developed (i.e., various types of buttons sewn on scrap fabric to show that they have learned how to sew on buttons), poems or other creative stories written by the child about their project, or photos of ribbons or copies of certificates received, or other information. We suggest that the child does not include ribbons or other valuable items that could get lost. This section is limited to 6 pages – one side only.

COMPLETING THE PROJECT

At the end of the year, children will write a story about their 4-H experiences during the year. In their story, they should write about every project they completed, plus write about their family and other 4-H activities and learning experiences not related to their project work (i.e., parades, camp, trips, contests). If the child submits two or more project records, they can photocopy the story and put the same story in all of their project records.

The story needs to be more than just a summary of what they did. After all, they have already summarized their accomplishments on the project record forms. Their story provides a way to share their experiences with the reader: what went well, what failed, what happened that was funny or sad or challenging, how they felt about those experiences, etc.

The story needs to be appropriate for the child's age. Younger youth will typically write shorter stories and older youth will generally write longer stories. Younger children or children with special needs may need to tell their parent or guardian and have them write it down for them.

THE FINAL PROJECT

Each child will put all his or her project forms, the completed project book (if used) and supporting information in a binder. A simple paper school report folder with metal tabs works very well. Youth can put their completed project forms directly in the report folder, or use clear pocket pages, which help ensure the reader will be able to see the entire form. If children want, they can decorate the cover to fit their project topic. If the project record goes on to district competition, a 2x3" sticker will be placed in the top right corner. Make sure that space stays blank.

In the top left corner of each project page, there is a triangle with a number inside. These numbers show the order the project forms are organized in the project record.

1. Children will want to include a title page that tells their name, age, club, and title of their project.
2. Most youth include a simple table of contents – you are never too young to start learning organizational skills.

3. My 4-H Plan should be next. If you have goals listed on additional pages, label them so the judges know what the additional pages are for, and insert them immediately after your planning form.
4. My Project Record (ages 5-8, 9-10, and ages 11-12) or My 4-H Record of Accomplishments (ages 13-15 and 16-18) is inserted next. Again, add additional pages, properly labeled if needed.
5. My Personal Touch (ages 5-8, 9-10, and 11-12) is next. In this section, include 6 pages of supporting information.* This information should relate directly to the project.
6. My 4-H Story is next (ages 5-8, 9-10, and 11-12). (*Youth ages 13—18 have a limit of ten pages, total, for Express Yourself and My Story.)
7. Youth ages 11 and older have additional pages to record their other 4-H activities, plus leadership, community service, and citizenship experiences. These are at the end of the record, and should be organized based on the numbered triangles.

The completed project book can be put in the project record with the supporting information, or if it has not been hole-punched, it can be put in pockets of the school report folder.

Children will submit a different school report folder for EACH project record they turn in. The goals and 4-H story will be the same in each one – just photocopied.

Project records are due to the Extension Office the first work day after the New Year's holiday (usually Jan. 2 or 3).

PROJECT RECORD AWARDS

- Project records submitted by youth ages 5-8 years old are not entered into competition. Each child receives a participation ribbon, certificate and one goodie bag that includes items that will support next years' project.
- Youth ages 9-18 (age as of January 1 of the current project year) submitting projects will receive a ribbon and a certificate. Projects are judged individually with each project receiving a blue ribbon (excellent), red ribbon (good), or white ribbon (fair). Youth earning blue ribbon recognition will receive $10 in 4-H Fun Bucks for each project record (up to a maximum of three blue ribbon projects).
- In addition to individual judging, project records will be judged to determine the County Champion in each of the nine curriculum areas in four age categories (9-10), (11-12), (13-15), and (16-18). A project must receive a blue ribbon rating to be named a County Champion.
- Each youth receiving County Champion honors earn a certificate, and his/her project is forwarded to district competition in March. A child may not have more than two projects sent to district competition.

- District gold, silver and bronze medals are awarded for each curriculum area for each age division. In most categories,* the gold medalist receives $50.

*Always refer to the 4-H Awards Handbook for specific award information.

- We encourage youth ages 13-18 to complete cumulative records, which summarize three years of project work in a specific project area. Save your project records! They will be valuable tools in compiling a cumulative record.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

CLUB LEVEL

All members, especially younger youth ages 5-8, are encouraged to start developing their public speaking skills by giving club presentations. Youth preparing club presentations will receive certificates. The club talks are not judged.

A club presentation is a simple talk about a topic of interest to the member – usually something related to a project they have been exploring. Depending on the child’s age and previous experience, the talk may be very, very short or last for five minutes or so. The time isn’t important. The important thing is that club members begin to feel comfortable speaking in front of a group in a supportive, non-competitive environment.

As the child gains experience and confidence, he or she will want to give a more thorough club presentation that includes all three components of a speech. – an introduction, the body, and a summary. Children will want to use posters or other props to help them share their information. It is always more interesting to see, rather than just listen to a presentation.

COUNTY LEVEL

Presentation competition is a formal public speaking contest for youth ages 9-18 (age determined as of January 1 of the program year). A presentation is more than just a speech. Youth do not just speak about their topic; they also make posters and use props to demonstrate for their audience. There are many different categories youth can speak about, with subjects ranging from dairy foods to electricity. When children select topics that don’t fall within one of the contest categories, they compete in the open category. Competition in each category is held in three age groups: 9-10, 11-13, and 14-18 (age determined as of January 1 of the program year). There are four levels of competition: county, district, state, and in some categories, national.

To participate, each youth selects a topic and signs up on a poster at the Extension Office Monday -Friday, 8:30 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. Topics range from Livestock to Electricity to Outdoor Cooking. Only two names are allowed in each category and age group, so its important to sign up early. Youth research their topics, write their speeches, prepare their posters and props, and practice their presentations prior to county competition, which is held during 4-H County Activity Day, usually in late May. Children and their parents or guardians can attend Presentation Training to learn how to prepare a presentation, and to see some sample presentations. Once youth have prepared their presentations, they can attend 4-H Presentation Coaching Sessions to help them improve their skills in delivering their presentation to an audience.

County Level Awards:

- Each presentation is judged individually with a presentation receiving a blue ribbon (excellent), red ribbon (good) or white ribbon (fair) rating.
- In addition, the blue ribbon presentations receive $20 in 4-H Fun Bucks.
- The best blue ribbon presentation in each age division and category is named County Champion. In categories that do not have a blue ribbon presentation, no County Champion will be named.
- Youth who receive a red ribbon (and who are the only one competing in their division) may still have an opportunity to go on to district competition. How? They can improve their presentation, present it again to a 4-H staff member, and if the quality has improved to blue-ribbon quality, they will be allowed to represent Henderson County at district. However, they will not receive the $20 in Fun Bucks awarded to blue ribbon winners. With hard work, they may go on to earn district honors. If selected as a district gold medalist, they will receive the $30 in Fun Bucks from Henderson County, plus any state-funded award for their category.
- Youth earning white ribbons will not have the opportunity to advance to district competition.
- Presenters who earn blue ribbons, and red-ribbon winners who have improved their presentations, receive the opportunity to represent Henderson County in district competition during District Activity Day, which is held in June.

District Level

The district 4-H presentation competition is an event called District Activity Day. Youth will compete with others from the Western District in their same age division and category. The Western District is made up of a 17-county region that runs from Watauga County to Cherokee County.

District Level Awards

- At the district level, gold, silver and bronze medalists are selected for each category in each age division.
- Youth who are named District Gold Medalists receive $30 in 4-H Fun Bucks from Henderson County 4-H.
- In addition, in some categories the state provides scholarships toward the registration fee to attend State 4-H Congress. Request a copy of the current Awards Handbook for scholarship information for each category and age division, or visit www.nc4h.org/youth/awards.html.

State Level

Youth 9-18 who are selected as gold medalists at District Activity Day may compete in state competition at NC 4-H Congress. (Youth 11-18 who are named district silver medalists are allowed to compete in state presentation competition too; however they do not receive a state scholarship toward the registration fee).

North Carolina 4-H Congress is a 4-day event that includes lots of different state level activities and contests. It is held at North Carolina State University in July. Presentation competition is held on Tuesday of NC 4-H Congress.

District gold medalists ages 9-12 can attend NC 4-H Congress as part-time delegates (Monday-Tuesday). Youth 13 and older (as of January 1 of the current program year) can stay for the entire 4 days (Monday-Thursday).

Special Opportunity for Youth 13 and Older: Even if they are not selected as a county or district winner, youth 13 and older (age determined as of January 1 of the current program year) are eligible to attend State 4-H Congress as part- or full-time delegates if they completed a red or blue ribbon presentation in county competition. They will have to pay their full registration fee, but can use 4-H Fun Bucks earned from other 4-H contests to pay all or part of their registration fee.

Congress delegates are transported to Raleigh and chaperoned by Extension Staff members and parent volunteers. Many families choose to travel to Raleigh on their own. The Henderson County group usually reserves a block of hotel rooms at a discount rate. Families attend the presentation competition on Tuesday, and often support participants in Monday evening programs.

State Awards

At the state level, 1st-3rd place winners are selected for each category and age division. These youth earn gold, silver and bronze medals. Awards vary among categories (request a copy of the Awards Handbook). Many gold medal state winners earn $50-$100. This award will come as a check later in the year.

National Level

In a few categories, older youth (generally 15 and older) have the opportunity to compete in a national level contest. These contests are not specifically 4-H contests and may have contestants from FFA, Grange and other youth groups, in addition to 4-H members. State Extension Specialists coordinate national level trips and supervise the delegates.

The following categories have a national competition available:

Artistic Arrangement

Chicken Barbeque

Egg Cookery

Fruit & Vegetable Use

Horse

Horse Public Speaking

Horticulture Production/Marketing

Landscaping

Peanut Foods

Turkey Barbecue

To participate in most national trips, the member must be at least 15 years old. Request a current copy of the Awards Handbook. State funded scholarships are available to assist with the cost for national level trips. The scholarships amounts vary by category. In areas without full sponsorship for the registration fee of the national contest, Henderson County will provide up to $100 toward the cost of the national trip.

Learning For A Life Time Through 4-H!

HENDERSON COUNTY AWARDS SYSTEM FOR 4-H MEMBERS

As a 4-H member, you can earn promotion levels throughout your 4-H career. The following information will explain how you can be recognized in this program.

Promotion Levels:

For each year you are enrolled in 4-H, you can attain four levels: Emerald, Topaz, Ruby, and Sapphire. To earn a level, you will need to complete the requirements for that level during the year.

During year one, when you complete the requirements for the emerald level, you will receive an emerald clover pin with a “1” in the middle. When you complete the requirements for the topaz level, you will receive a topaz clover pin with a “1” in the middle. The same thing happens for the Ruby and Sapphire.

In year two, when you complete the requirements for the emerald level, you will receive an emerald clover pin with a “2” in the middle. When you complete the requirements for the topaz level, you will receive a topaz clover pin with a “2” in the middle. The same thing happens for Ruby and Sapphire.

You have an opportunity to earn four pins every year you are a 4-H member.

The requirements for each level change with every year of 4-H membership. For example, a child who earns a year “1” ruby level will have different requirements than the child who earns a year “5” ruby level.

As you complete the requirements, your club leader will verify your work.

When are Awards Presented?

Once you meet the requirements for a new level, you receive your promotion pin at the next club meeting. At-large members will receive their promotion pins from an extension staff member.

How will my friends know which level I have earned?

When you join 4-H, you can purchase a 4-H name badge to wear at 4-H events and club meetings. On this badge, you will be able to display your promotion pins.

AWARDS & RECOGNITION

Your child will have many opportunities for recognition as a 4-H club member. Some important recognition events that you will want to attend are:

End-of-the-Year Club Celebrations: Each club will hold an end-of-the-year celebration to recognize its members. Each club will approach this event in their own way. For some clubs, it will be a formal awards program; others may choose to do a show and tell night, a carnival, a party, or a club presentation night.

4-H Contests:

- 4-H Fashion Revue
- 4-H Entertains (Talent Show)
- 4-H Career Poster
- 4-H Photography Contest
- 4-H Mini-Gardening
- 4-H Healthy Bake-Off

4-H County Activity Day: This is the countywide competition for 4-H Presentations (Public Speaking). It is a half day event held in late May followed by an awards program.

4-H District Activity Day: This is an all day event that includes contestants from the Western District, a 17 county region. District 4-H Presentation competition is held during this event. Counties also send representatives for 4-H Entertains. Presentation winners are announced in the afternoon awards program, along with district project record winners.

4-H Achievement Night: This is the countywide 4-H awards assembly to recognize the accomplishments of all Henderson County 4-H club members. It is held in February each year. All club members and their families are encouraged to attend.

During the awards program, youth club leaders, and individual clubs are recognized for their participation in:

- Project Records – Each child submitting a project record is recognized.
- Community Service – Each club that completed two or more community service projects is recognized.
- Club Charters – New clubs that have met the requirements are presented with their club charters.
- Club Gold Seals – Clubs that meet the requirements are presented with gold seals for their club charter.
- Club Leadership – Club leaders are recognized for their volunteer service.
- 4-H Council – New county officers are installed.

4-H Fun Bucks: Prizes for county contests are usually paid in 4-H Fun Bucks. 4-H Fun Bucks work like gift certificates. Children can use them to pay for 4-H t-shirts, project books, and 4-H workshops and trips at the county level and beyond. In this way, children can “earn” their way to special 4-H programs or purchase 4-H items.

To redeem 4-H Fun Bucks, simply turn them in at the Extension Office when you want to register for a program. If you have $10 in Fun Bucks and want to pay for a $4 workshop, new Fun Bucks will be issued for the balance. You may also use “Fun Bucks” to purchase items from the “4-H Store,” which is usually available during county-wide 4-H events. 4-H Fun Bucks must be used within three years of the date they are issued.

4-H Age: You will hear 4-H members talk about their “4-H Age.” For contests and elections, 4-H determines a child’s age as of January 1 of the current program year. For example, if a child was born on March 7, 1987 and is competing in a 4-H event in 2001, their 4-H age all year long is 13, not 14.

Children are not allowed to compete in 4-H contests until they are 9 years old (i.e., their 4-H age). Most contests allow children 8 and under to participate, but not compete, and provide them with participation recognition.

SPECIAL INTEREST PROGRAMS

Throughout the year, 4-H will offer a variety of classes, workshops and tours that we call Special Interest Programs. All youth, not just 4-H club members, are invited to participate in Special Interest Programs. In fact, many children first learn about 4-H through special interest activities. Children can be 4-H club members and participate in special interest programs too!

Unlike 4-H clubs, Special Interest Programs are short-term in nature. How long each program lasts depends a great deal on the topic being explored and the volunteer who teaches the program. For example, 4-H might coordinate a trip to the Roper Mountain Science Center for a daylong science adventure. Likewise, 4-H might offer beginning sewing classes that may meet once a week for 4-6 weeks.

Following is a list of Special Interest Programs that are offered every year. In addition, new programs are added during the year. Some special interest programs are conducted annually, while others are added to the calendar during the year. To keep informed of special interest programs throughout the year, subscribe to The Source, our free newsletter that announces 4-H programs and events.

Please keep in mind that these are the current, annual Special Interest Programs. Programs are added, deleted, and modified based on volunteer availability, interests, and community needs. You can find out about current programs from the Henderson County 4-H Calendar of Events, which is published annually, reading The Source, or visiting the Henderson County 4-H website or facebook page.

BEGINNING SEWING CLASSES (January-April)

Youth ages 9-18 are invited to attend Beginning Sewing Classes. Participants all make simple garments using a pattern selected by the class coordinator. Students purchase the selected pattern in their size, 100% cotton fabric (no stripes, plaids, or diagonal prints), sewing tools and notions needed to complete the garments. 4-H provides sewing machines and volunteer instructors to help students complete their garments.

In the class, youth learn basic sewing terminology, how to operate a sewing machine, and how to use and care for sewing equipment as they complete a simple garment. All participants model their garments in the 4-H Fashion Revue, and compete for awards.

4-H FASHION REVUE (April/May)

This event is the sewing/modeling contest open to area youth ages 5-18. To enter, youth complete an entry form and turn in their completed garment by the announced deadline.

To be in the 4-H Fashion Revue, youth sew a garment at home with guidance from a parent or other knowledgeable adult, or they may sew a garment while attending 4-H sewing classes. Youth should select patterns appropriate for their skill levels. Extension staff has a “Make a Skirt without a Pattern” instruction guide that is appropriate for smaller-sized youth at the beginning skill level.

The garment must be completed by the child (with appropriate supervision by an adult volunteer or parent as necessary for the child’s age).

Children 14 and older (age determined as of January 1 of the program year) must complete a “Short Record Form” and must sew a complete garment (i.e., a dress, a skirt, and blouse, or pants and shirt) to be eligible to compete in state competition. The “Short Record Form” summarizes their experience in the sewing project and their overall leadership in 4-H. It counts as 25% of the scoring in county and state competition.

Youth will turn in their garments to be evaluated for sewing construction. Then, youth will model their garments for the judges to evaluate fit, overall look, and poise. The judging results are kept secret until the awards program following the 4-H Fashion Revue.

All youth model their garments during the 4-H Fashion Revue, in early May. Awards will be announced the same evening.

MINI-GARDENING PROJECT (May – August)

This is a gardening competition for all county youth ages 9-18 (age determined as of January 1 of the current program year). To participate, youth complete a registration form and attend a mini-gardening orientation workshop.

During the workshop children receive seeds, transplants and instructions on how to prepare a standard 10 x 12 foot vegetable garden. Youth prepare, plant, and maintain their own gardens at their homes. Volunteer judges visit the gardens during the summer to evaluate the gardens, and give helpful suggestions.

Each participant keeps a garden journal throughout the summer to track the maintenance and yield from his or her garden. In August, garden journals are turned into the 4-H Office. Contestants are evaluated on the care and maintenance of their garden, yields from their gardens, and their garden journals.

Winners are announced and recognized during the Mini-Garden Awards Dinner. The dinner is a potluck meal. Participants will bring food prepared with produce from their garden, along with the recipes to share.

Mini-Garden participants are encouraged to submit a gardening project record in county competition, as well as enter produce in the NC Mountain State Fair.

All youth, ages 8-15, are invited to attend summer camp at Swannanoa 4-H Center located in Buncombe County. The 4-H Center is an accredited camp with the American Camping Association. The weeklong camp is held Sunday through Friday, and offers hiking and nature walks, mountain heritage arts and crafts, swimming, archery, a climbing wall, overnight camp-outs, and, of course, campfire programs, recreations, songs and new friends.

Parents/guardians provide transportation to and from camp. Campers will be camping with children from across North Carolina.

Dates for 4-H Summer Camp are announced in early January/February. Space is limited. Families can hold a space for their child by paying Henderson County 4-H a $50 non-refundable deposit. The camp fee is typically $350 - $400, which includes meals, lodging, transportation, insurance, and program and craft materials. Registering through Henderson County 4-H will give the camper a $100 discount. The balance of the camp fee is due by June 1.

F.R.E.S.H. (Flat Rock's Exceptional Sandburg Helpers) (June – August)

This is a service learning experience available for youth ages 11-15. FRESH members volunteer for a regular, weekly 3-hour shift at the Carl Sandburg National Historic Park in Flat Rock during the summer. As FRESH members, children learn about Mrs. Sandburg's famous goat herd, how to care for the goats, and about the park itself. During their shift, they will visit with park guests, care for the goats, maintain the barn, and walk the goats.

As part of their experience, youth learn how to show goats in a livestock show, and interested FRESH members may get to show the Sandburg goats at the Mountain State Fair in September.

To apply to be a FRESH member, youth need to submit an application directly to the National Park Service at the Carl Sandburg Home. Call the park at 693-4178 for an application. At the end of the summer, participants and their families are invited to an awards program, where each FRESH member is recognized.

PUMPKIN PATCH KIDS (June – October)

This is a non-competitive horticultural program for youth ages 5-8 (age determined as of January 1 of the current program year). In the program, children plant and grow giant pumpkins, at the Bullington Center off of Zeb Corn Road. There is a $15 fee due with registration for this program.

Beginning in early summer, participants plant giant pumpkin seeds, transplant the seedlings, and then maintain the pumpkin patch by weeding and watering the plants. They meet once every two weeks. Each time they meet, they learn about horticulture through hands-on activities, and as a group they care for the pumpkins. The group continues to meet through the summer and fall. In early October, the giant pumpkins (now 200-250 pounds) are exhibited at Farm City Day. Pumpkin Patch Kids are asked to distribute pumpkin seeds at Farm City Day.

At the last Pumpkin Patch meeting, children learn how to estimate a pumpkin's weight by measuring it. They also enjoy treats made from pumpkin. Each child receives a certificate, and a seed from a giant pumpkin to plant at his or her own home the following year.

At the beginning of the program, children will receive a Pumpkin Patch project book, and are encouraged to submit project records that summarize their horticultural learning experiences for county competition. Each youth, 5-8, who submits a project, will be honored at 4-H Achievement Night in February.

Cumulative Records

4-H members who are 13 or older (age determined as of January 1 of the current program year) and who have had two or more years in 4-H project work are eligible to submit cumulative records in district and state competition.

A cumulative record is similar to a project record, except that it summarizes a member's work in a project area for three consecutive years, rather than just one year. Like a project record, it also summarizes the member's experience in leadership, community service, and citizenship. There are many different categories of cumulative records. Interested youth need to request a copy of the current Award's Handbook.

Youth who submit a cumulative record by the announced county deadline and go on to earn a gold rating at the district level will receive $25 in 4-H Fun Bucks from Henderson County 4-H. Cumulative records are judged at the district and state levels with gold, silver and bronze medals awarded at each level. District winners receive a medal and certificate. North Carolina 4-H Ambassador Program

The mission of the North Carolina 4-H Ambassador program is to empower teen 4-H leaders with the knowledge, skills and aspirations necessary to be effective advocates for NC 4-H Youth Development. Teens are taught about leadership so that they may serve as positive role models for younger youth; build meaningful partnerships with other teens, adult volunteers, and 4-H professionals; and promote the 4-H mission in North Carolina.

The goal is that every North Carolina teen 4-H member will have the personal initiative, program resources, and leadership opportunities to be a positive role model and a vocal advocate for the 4-H program in our state.

Basic Premises of the NC 4-H Ambassador Program

- Encourages personal development and service to NC 4-H for teen 4-H members.
- Is based upon an individual teen's performance towards established standards.
- Is self-based and self-paced

Documents the teen's accomplishments through a Personal Leadership Portfolio developed by the Ambassador based upon defined criteria.

NC 4-H Ambassador Program Guidelines

- To apply to become a NC 4-H Ambassador, a member must be at least 13 years old and have been a 4-H member for 2 years, both as of January 1.
- Ambassador registrations and portfolio submissions must be approved by the county 4-H professional prior to submission to the State Ambassador Program Coordinator.
- Personal Leadership Portfolios compiled by the Ambassador candidate document individual achievements, and must follow specified statewide guidelines.
- A 4-H member can achieve only one Ambassador level per portfolio submission. Participants must complete and have verified one level before advancing to the next.
- It is recommended that a 4-H member take no longer than 2 calendar years to complete a single Ambassador level. Requirements for each level must include only those activities and courses completed after January 1 of the year the member entered that level.
- Portfolios may be submitted for verification twice yearly, in April and October.
- Ambassador Leadership Team members, including a trained county 4-H professional, an adult volunteer and/or current Ambassador will review Portfolios, verify requirements, and award levels of achievement.
- All Ambassadors successfully completing any Ambassador level(s) will be recognized at the NC 4-H Congress or NC 4-H State Council Conference.
